At That Time.

After considering the case for seven hours and a half, the jury in the case of the state against Frank Rose, charged with murder in the first degree for the killing of his young wife in this city on last Christmas day, reached a verdict, at about 11:30 o'clock last night, of guilty as charged in the information. When the verdict was read by Deputy County Clerk D. B. Davis, the defendant never stirred in his seat and was not concerned in the least about the verdict. After the jury had been polled and excused, Rose was ask. ed what he thought about the verdict and he replied that it could have been He said that a life sentence worse. He said that a life series, would have been worse in his opinion. It was after 12 o'clock before Judge Morse arrived in the courtroom. Rose and his attorneys, Kinney & Christensen, were already in the room, but District Attorney Eichnor was not present. The jury was brought in by Deputy Sheriffs Booth and Anderson shortly after the arrival of Judge Morse. The foreman of the jury, John Rider, delivered the verdict to the judge to the glanging over it, handed it. who, after glancing over it, handed it to the clerk to read. Upon the suggesto the clerk to read. Upon the suggestion of Attorney Christensen the jury was polled and each juror replied that such was his verdict. The jurors then presented to the court a set of resolutions thanking all those connected with the case for their kind consideration

The convicted man was then taken to a cab and hurried back to the county jall, where he will remain until after sentence is passed upon him on Monday, March 7, that being the day et by Judge Morse for passing sen-

It is said that 15 ballots were taken before a verdict was reached. The jury retired to the jury room at 4 o'clock and shortly after that the first ballot was taken. It stood nine for guilty as charged in the information, two for cuilty with a recommendation for merand one for acquittal. On the next verdict of guilty with a recommendation, while one of the others went with the majority for a verdict of guilty without recommendation. The jurors were then taken out to dinner and re-turned at about 7:45 o'clock. After disssing the case and balloting until 30 o'clock, they arrived at a unaniverdict of guilty as charged in the information and the court, deputy derk and attorneys were notified that a verdict had been reached and were soon present in the courtroom.

After the "News" report closed yeserday, Attorney Soren X. Christensen luded his forcible and eloquent argument for the defense. District Atorney Eichnor then made the closing argument for the state. He made one of his usual logical and convincing ar-He argued that Rose killed is wife in cold blood because she re-used to continue her life of shame and thus threatened to cut off his income. "He says he wants to die," said Mr. chnor, in conclusion, "but don't you lieve it. A man who has been willng to live at the price of his wife's irtue is not so willing to give up his ife. Strange Affinity Between Patrol Horse And a Burglar.

If the capture of a bold burgiar depends upon the running ability of the police patrol horses, then Mr. Burgtar will stand a good chance to escape. This much was proved yesterday morning between 1 and 4:30 o'clock, At that time a telephone message came nto the police station from 860 West cond North street that a burglar was the house. Demand was made for the patrol wagon and several officers, immediately, if not sooner. Driver Will Armstrong and two or three officers arded the wagon quickly and expect. to make a run to the scene of the bbery that would eclipse the famous run Armstrong made to Forest Dale on he Mortensen-Hay murder case. But Armstrong had a balky horse that was worse than the one David Harum sold to the deacon. The animal would mal would not even "stand without It wouldn't stand at all. One the officers declared that the animal tually grinned at them. This was bout I o'clock. They worked with the forse until 4:30, but all to no purpose. Finally Armstrong had to wake up a neighbor and berrow a "nag" to haul the patrol wagon back to the station. The burglar secured nothing, but the folice are in hot pursuit.

HARDENED CRIMINALS.

Majors, Connors and Muller Enter Pleas Of Not Guilty.

Three of the toughest looking men hat ever crossed the threshold of the telice station, were before Judge Diehl esterday to answer to criminal harges. They were Abe Majors, servas a life sentence for murder, Frank onnors, serving a similar sentence, and Edward Mullen, serving three ars and a half for postoffice robbery, are and a half for postoffice robbery, bey were brought in from the state fish, and guards Ure and Hilton, o plead to charges of assault with a leadly weapon and escaping from the weapon and escaping from the day as they were on the occasion of their last appearance before Judge Diehl. Connors and Mullen looked sullen and deflant, but Majors seemed to be in pretty good spirits. He smiled continuously, and spoke in a con-temptuous tone when pleading to the charge against him. All three of the men pleaded not guilty to the accusations, and their cases were set for next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock for preliminary hearing.

While waiting for the car to convey them back to the state prison, the only home two of them will probably ever know, a careful watch was kept over them by the officers in charge. Acting Warden Wright and Guard Ure stood close to the prisoners and would permit no one to get close to them. Guard Hilton stood several paces away and kept a close lookout for any one who might approach the desperate men. Passersby, noting that the men were heavily ironed and under a strict watch, stopped and gazed at them in wonder. Soon a crowd of over 200 per-sons had collected and watched the prisoners' every movement.

Just before the car come, Majors' mother and his little brother, accompanied by a well dressed woman, ap-proached Mr. Wright, and Mrs. Majors asked permission to speak to her way-ward son. Mr. Wright promptly refused permission, and the party away from the prisoners. Majors did not even look at his mother, but kept talking in an undertone to Connors. Several times he laughed as though something amused him hugely. When the car come, the guards had to assist Mullen aboard, as he was unable to get on alone, owing to the shackles.

DAVENPORT LECTURE

Famous Cartoonist to Visit Salt Lake At the End of the Week.

Indications are that there will be a big house to hear Homer Davenport lecture at the Salt Lake Theater on Sunday evening. There are few men in public life today whom this famous cartoonist has not met. Statesmen, men of letters, artists, and capitalists in both this country and in England are his personal friends, and there is hardly one among them of whom he has not some anecdote to tell. Mr. Davenport's fame is world wide and since he has given up cartoon work for the Hearst papers and taken to the lecture platform people from all ranks of life have flocked to see the man in the flesh and hear him tell his quaint anecdotes as he deftly sketches with a crayon for their edification.

The Nashville Banner to hand devotes nearly a column to the enter-taining lecture by the great cartoonist. ong other things it says:

"His repertoire includes both humor ous and pathetic stories, and he tells the one as well as the other, with that peculiar effectiveness which seems to

"Perhaps the best humorous story he tells is on Senator Spooner and his hajr, While in Washington Mr. Davenport entered into a conspiracy with a senator to run a series of cartoons illustrative of Senator Spooner's hair, and then the conspirators watched the effect day by day. The earnest appeal Mr. Spooner made to have his hair let alone and then the climax, a cartoon of the senator and his hair, tickled the audience immensely. A story of the speaker's mission to England especially to get a picture of Mr. Gladstone, and his "insult" to England's great premier by calling his "crows" on his visit to Ha. "rooks" warden and the reprimand given the cartoonist by the cabman who taken him out to Hawarden was happily told."

The lecture is given under the auspices of the Press club, which has posted a stiff guarantee to secure the date. It is on the cards that Mr. Davenport will be introduced by Cartoonist Lovey in a unique manner.

IGNORANCE WAS BLISS.

Hazy Ideas on Divorce Productive of Embarassing Situation.

Ignorance in regard to the divorce laws of this state is the cause of Mrs. Michael B. McGrath, now of Los Angeles, Cal., getting herself into a rath. er embarrassing matrimonial entanglement, and her husband is now attempting to straighten out the affair by ask. ing the courts at Los Angeles to set aside their marriage, which was solemnized in this city on Nov. 6, 1896, The facts in the case were brought to light by an investigation made in the county clerk's office yesterday, pursu-ant to a letter of inquiry concerning the matter received from C. S. McKel-vey, attorney for Mr. McGrath. It seems that Mrs. McGrath was formerly Mrs. Retta Callahan and her maid-en name was Miss Retta Helmer. On Nov. 5, 1896, she filed suit for divorce in the district court here against her husband, David Callahan, and evidently believing that that was all that was necessary to secure her divorce, she called at the county clerk's office the next day, Nov. 6, with Mr. McGrath and secured a marriage license, she giving her name as Retta Helmer. couple was married the same day by Rev. S. E. Wishard, the ceremony being witnessed by Mrs. S. E. Wishard and Helen Wishard Coskey. The court records disclose the fact that the woman was not granted a di-vorce from Callahan until Nov. 29, 1896, just 24 days after her marriage to Mc-Grath. So for the past seven years she has been living with McGrath under the impression that she was his legal wife, when in fact her marriage to him was absolutely null and void because of the fact that she was legally incompetent to wed at the time of their mar. riage. From the tone of the letter re-ceived by the county clerk it is evident that Mr. McGrath is seeking to have the marriage declared null and void,

INDIAN HAS TURNED WHITE

And Kanosh Man Wants to Exhibit Him At the World's Fair.

The Utah commission of the Louisiana Purchase exposition held a meeting yesterday afternoon and had spread before it a communication from James A. George of Kanosh, asking that he be permitted to exhibit at the world's fair an Indian 110 years old, who, during the past ten years, has been turning white, until today his color is almost entirely changed.

In his letter Mr. George calls attention to the fact that about 30 years ago the Indian was converted to "Mormonism" and that he was promised at the time that if he would lead a religious life he would turn white and become ntelligent. Continuing, the letter "He commenced to turn white about ten years ago. Now his body, with the exception of some black spots, is as white as snow. His hands are the same Around his eyes and mouth is the same. He never was sick a single day in his life as far as I can find out. As the commission was very busy with other things, the communication was not acted upon, but probably something will be done at its next meet-Judge Shurtliff, who has just returned from St. Louis, reported his labors relative to securing space for an educational exhibit, stating that he was inclined to the belief that sufficient space in the educational building would be granted. On recommendation of Director General Whitaker, B. A. Perkins and William Thomas were employed by the commission, the gentlemen to go to St. Louis at once to assist in the arrange-ment of the displays. #### THE CASPIAN SEA

One of the most remarkable physical features of the globe is the deep and wide depression in the hollow of which stands the Casplan sea, and near to it the Sea of Aral. The Caspian is nearly as large as France, ad its surface is 84 feet below the level of te Black sea. The sea of Aral is nearly as large as Ireland and is very little over the sea level. Within recent geological times the vast expanse in which these lakes are found was sea. Its floor has been gradually raised, and the waters filling the depressions are all that is left of an ancient Mediterranean. A strange feature of both bodies of water is that, although they receive large rivers, especially the Caspian, into which the Volga, the Ural river and scores of streams from te Caucasus flow, both have for many years been getting shallower. Evaporation, for they have no outlet, exceeded the inflow. But, for some climatic reason probably, Lake Aral and its neighbor, Lake Balkhash, have since 1891 been increasing in depth. Nature reports that M. Berg visited Lake Balkhash last summer and found that the level was rising with comparative rapidity, Whereas the Caspian, like the Dead sea, is very sait, owing to the rate of evaporation, Aral and Balkhash are brackish only. These remnants of what was once a great sea opening into the ocean, as the Mediterranean does now, still contain marine fish and soals. Some of the latter survive in the Aral and as France, ad its surface is 84 feet be-Finnish, however, is an entirely of the latter survive in the Aral and Baikal lakes, having gradually become fitted for their habitat, though it is no longer salt, but merely brackish, and, in the case of Baikal, actually fresh water.—London Telegraph.
